

International Security Conference

SCADA SECURITY

Organized as a part of FUTURE FORCES FORUM

12 – 13 October 2017 • Hotel DAP, Prague, Czech Republic

The conference is organized under the auspices of the European Cyber Security Excellence Center (EUCYBSEC)

Critical information infrastructure forms the backbone of modern society. The industrial control systems (ICS) are an important part of the critical infrastructure, unfortunately not enough emphasis has been put on them despite the fact that the cyber-attacks on ICS are significantly increased within last couple of years.

The conference will focus mainly on current topics in the field of security of ICS and related topics. The conference will create a unique forum for the partners and participants to discuss and exchange information and experience in ICS and cyber security, search for future solutions, in particular through the involvement of major world-renowned experts in the field of security and ISC systems.

The event is organized as a regional one involving at least the V4 countries, Germany and Austria (V4 + 2). The intention is to create a new platform for professionals in the field of security of industrial control systems.

The conference will focus on the following topics:

- Recent and future cyber threats and solutions
- New technological trends in ICS security
- Cyber security as an investment to protect own businesses and entire society
- Industry 4.0 (IoT) vs. ICS security
- Human factor and related topics
- Business opportunities in the cyber security area

Conference Audience

The conference is aimed primarily at the security, operational and IT community of the critical infrastructure, the public sector, armed and security forces, the academia and private sector cooperating in CIIP projects with special focus on recent cyber topics.

The conference is organized under the auspices of:

Národní úřad pro kybernetickou a informační bezpečnost

The conference is a part of the European Cyber Security Month
